STATE LAND OFFICE,
CARSON CITY, NEVADA
October 21, 1900.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE State of Nevada, under the Act of Congress approved June 16, 1880, (21 Stat. 287), has filed in the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, list No. 233 of lands selected under said Act, and has applied for a patent for said lands, that a part of said list is open to the public for inspection, and a copy thereof, by descriptive subdivisions, has been posted in a convenient place in said United States Land Office for the inspection of all persons interested and the public generally.
Within the next sixty days following the date of this notice protests or contests against the claim of said State of Nevada to any tract or sub-division described in the list, on the ground that the same is more valuable for mineral than agricultural purposes, will be received and noted by the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, for report to the General Land Office at Washington, D. C.
The following are the sub-divisions described, to-wit:
SW 1/4 of SW 1/4, Section 29, T. 19 N., R. 18 E., M. D. M., containing 40 acres.

THE EDITOR STRUCK.

HE JOINED FORCES WITH THE PRINTERS WHEN THEY QUIT.

The Winning Manner in Which Bill Steritt Handled a Demand For Increased Pay by the Force on the Old Dallas Times.

There are ways and ways of settling labor strikes. The unions have used the "sympathetic strike" plan, at times securing a settlement by calling out the forces of allied trades. With the "bosses" the lockout frequently has done the business. But there are methods of erasing differences between employers and employees which even Chicago has overlooked. Strikes have been settled by the bosses joining the ranks of the strikers, voluntarily assuming the posts of walking delegates, directing the movements of the striking army and dictating the time when difficulties were declared off.

Proof of the power of this method was furnished during the days of the old Dallas Times. That Texas city was but a struggling town then, with a population that was getting close up to the 2,000 mark. The editorial helm of the Times had just been seized by William Steritt, better known in Washington's and Texas' newspaper world today as plain "Bill" Steritt, the title "colonel" frequently being prefixed in recognition of his birthplace, Kentucky.

The Times under the Steritt regime employed five men and one woman in its manufacture. The latter was the wife of the foreman of the printing room and worked at the "cases," while the "printer's devil" performed double duty by acting as the motive power of the hand press. The foreman during his younger days had had an argument with a mule, and the scars of that battle which decorated his face had aided in securing his reputation of being "a bad man in a mixup." Shortly after the new hand press had begun the molding of editorials and the sharing of subscription donations ranging from garden truck to overworked farm stock uneasily lodged in The Times office. Rumors of labor troubles and of union organization were heard.

"We've concluded to quit," said the foreman as he stalked into the editor's sanctum one morning backed up by the entire mechanical force. "We don't get union pay, and we've organized a chapel. If you don't show up more money, your paper don't get out, that's all."

"Going to strike, are you?" queried Steritt, who had not found promises of a direct road to wealth and Wall street through The Times. "Unionized, are you? Well, sir, I'm glad to hear it. I've been thinking for some days of going on a strike myself. The circulation of this concern isn't extremely feverish, and none of the subscribers will ever miss us, and if they do it will be to our benefit. The few blocks of white paper out there will keep, and I guess the hand press won't object to a day off. Yes, sir, we'll strike right here and now, sir. We'll walk around the corner and celebrate the inauguration of this 'walkout' with a drink."

The foreman's wife here transferred her share of arbitration power on the masculine contingent and departed. The quintet expressed some surprise at the turn of affairs, but followed Steritt to the corner saloon, where three rounds of drinks were put away under his direction.

"You see," began the foreman, "we're ready to go right back to work now if you'll pay."

"No, sir," broke in the editor. "Why, we've just struck, and I couldn't call things off now. Hold on, I tell you, and we'll win out."

The Times office was closed up, the windows nailed down and the office cat turned loose to forage. On the fourth day the foreman approached Steritt and sounded him as to the advisability of declaring the strike at an end.

"Can't do it," was the answer. "Why, I'm having the best time of my life. Hang out, and we'll win, I tell you. If I could find another union around here, we would have one of those sympathetic affairs. No; the strike's not off, and I hereby issue another pronouncement to that end. Besides that, the people are beginning to find out they need a paper. I'm in this strike for subscribers."

Then they liquored several times, and the foreman left.

On the ninth day the striking army of five conferred with the self appointed walking delegate. They contended that they were ready to resume their end of the work of shaping public opinion at the old schedule of weekly pay. Steritt was obdurate and advised further hostilities for several days. On the fourteenth day he was called on to accept a most sweeping capitulation. The next day the hand press began its grind, the foreman, who had not lived up to his reputation as a "bad man," took his wife and his followers back to the "cases," and Steritt continued the work of gathering "items" and building editorials. At the close of the day's work the force was summoned to the office.

"Next time," advised the editor, "you don't want to stop when you've organized a chapel. You want to go ahead and organize and build a whole cathedral. That's all."—Chicago Tribune.

Trees and Land.
Do not buy land on which the trees are small and of not very thick growth. You will see that men who are experienced in buying farming land always go on this principle. Land thickly covered with timber indicates good land, where the trees are scattered and not very tall indicates poor land.

THE FUTURE AND ITS DUTIES.

Bryan is defeated, and there will be much speculation over the causes which have contributed to his defeat. These times are metallic and constitute the iron age of modern times, modified by civilization and a more advanced knowledge of things. The cruelty is more refined, but is for that cause none the less severe upon those who are subject to its influence. One of the chief causes for his defeat is his large humanity to his fellow men wherever they are. He is living before his time as one of the advance guard of a higher civilization than we now possess.

The dollar will continue to be above the man for four more years, and its weight in the meantime will become more oppressive. Such is not the will of the people, but it is the will of the few who control the dollar. Its weight has been used in the election for election purposes, and it has succeeded, and will continue to succeed until its oppression becomes intolerable to the many. Its oppressive weight has not been realized by many who are in its way, but a time will come for its application, when they will be made to understand the full meaning of its weight.

When the wars now prosecuted to secure its application in an oppressive manner in remote parts of the earth are closed, connected with a crop failure in the United States, which will cause a scarcity of money, then the weight of the dollar in the hands of trusts will become too heavy to be supported by many who do not now understand the meaning of its oppressive force.

Bryan is in a position to say, "I would rather be right than be President," which is always a source of solace and congratulation to an upright man who overflows with human kindness. He is a man equal to his convictions, and is again ready to do battle for the right as he understands it, and a man of his intellectual development is not liable to err in political matters. The battle is on between the man and the dollar. While it is admitted to be a mean and low adversary, it must be also admitted that it is cunning and strong in battle.

The strong in will power and moral courage will be leaders, and William Jennings Bryan is one of them. His character of man will fall in the last ditch when the contending forces meet, which will be often before the contention is closed, when man is the victor which, in the order of our civilization, must come. The contention will not be of the sort that the weak will appear in its front ranks but it will be a contention that will furnish them shelter from the oppression and attacks made upon them by the dollar and by those who use it to destroy all there is worth living for.

The struggle will take many forms and will present many fronts, three of which were changed at the beginning of the late campaign and hereafter will present a united line of action. The Social Democrats will in the future, as they do now, present an opposition front to the enemy of mankind while it rules. These Social Democrats are loaded with schemes sufficient to destroy the power of the dollar and the social fabric among men at the same time. Its armament is more elaborate than strong but there is much in it that is good which can be used to advantage upon the enemy when the people are engaged in a flank movement.

We are not discussing principles as there is ample time to attend to that part of the business in the next four years, provided we continue the discussion, which is probable we will, life and health permitting. We are engaged now in making a review of a few pieces of artillery there are upon the people's side, which is more plentiful and of better calibre than it is generally conceded to be upon their side of the contest. There is a peace called common sense, another called energy, and still another called necessity to gather with many others that will storm the works of the enemy in a manner that will in the end not only destroy them, but will remove them from the earth. A removal of the works may not be within the time of those now living but they will be made harmless in the near future.

WEATHER PROPHECY

The Journal's Copyrighted Guess at What the Weather Will Be.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 7.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of storm wave to cross the continent the 14th to 18th, warm wave the 18th to 17th cool wave the 16th to 20th.

The next important weather feature will be the principal cool wave of the month. It will cross west of Rockies about the 20th, great central valleys the 22d and eastern states the 24th.

In this cool wave the lowest temperature of the month will be reached. The center of this high, or cool, wave will probably come down the Missouri river, pass into Texas, through northern portions of the southern states and then northward along the Atlantic coast, leaving the Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys not greatly disturbed.

It is announced that arrangements have been perfected for winter work on the Tuscarora Chief at Tuscarora.

A new strike has been made near South Klondike, Esmeralda county, by Frank Higgs and partners. The ore is said to be worth about $3,000 per ton.

John Chiatovich's Mary mine at Silver Peak is looking better than ever before. Ten men are employed and considerable high-grade ore is being extracted.

Superintendent McCormick of the Vulcan mine arrived in Hawthorne from Chicago Sunday. He informed the Bulletin that work will be resumed at once on the Parrott mine and 30 men employed. The shaft will be sent down 500 feet and a 75-ton smelter has been ordered and will be placed near the Parrot mine.

Discovery of a New Illuminant.

A committee from the Reno Wheelmen called upon a JOURNAL reporter last evening and requested him to write up a new illuminant that was being tried in the club hall. This new discovery promises to take the place of arc lights in this city. It costs only one cent a night and gives a steady light. The inventors are Jay Cox, Jimmie Graff, King Ryan and Elmer Hewlett.

Later—After the above was in type the reporter's curiosity led him over to the hall to see this great illuminant. In the arc lamp a tiny candle, borrowed from Mannheim, was dimly burning. The boys say that the arc has been defunct for a couple of weeks, but the bill for it is still running on.

To Live Right

Is a problem that most of us have tried to solve. We will guide you to the first step of an upward path: Be careful in the selection of your food: get the BEST. Sounds strange, don't it? However, experiment, and the next time you need GROCERIES try a first-class house that handles nothing but the BEST:—

The Landslide.

The latest election returns indicate that McKinley will have 305 votes in the electoral college, a majority of 163. In this estimate all the doubtful States are thrown into the McKinley column. Later returns may increase Bryan's vote.

VOTE OF THE COUNTIES

How the Various Precincts in Nevada Cast Their Ballots.

At 6:45 last evening returns had been received at the JOURNAL office from 75 out of the 183 precincts in Nevada, including four counties complete. They give McKinley 3,265 votes, Bryan 4,948, Farrington 3,943, Newlands 4,564. If the same ratio is kept up the fusion ticket will have carried every county in the State. Bryan's majority will reach 3,250 and Newlands' 2,500.
Below are given the results in all precincts heard from yesterday:

Uncertainty About Dan.

Grave fears are entertained that Dan Boyd has been defeated, although there is no evidence that O. J. Smith or Frank King, his rivals for the county treasury job, are receiving any votes. The returns, on the other hand, do not specify that Dan is getting any ballots cast for him either. However, the returns from Potosi, Potosi, Dogskin, New Jerusalem and Moop are not in yet. The word has this moment arrived that Dan ran ahead of his ticket in Salt Marsh precinct.

LITTLE LOCAL
BREVITIES

Items of Street and Town too Brief for Separate Heads.

A. and J. Patterson are erecting a brick residence for A. J. Chalmers on the south side.
Ed. Shaver is minus his White racer. Some one nailed it the other night at the post office.

The Southern Pacific company has handled 2,025 cars of stock at Reno in the past four months. The stock consisted of cattle, sheep and horses.

A large deer, one of the first brought to town this season, is hanging in front of the Washoe Lunch County. It was killed in the Red Rock country.

The Southern Pacific Company will soon commence the construction of a four story brick roundhouse at Reno and do away with the present wooden building.

Choice Flowers.

Having secured the agency for M. H. Ebel, the florist, who has the largest nursery on the Pacific coast, I am now prepared to take orders for floral designs for funerals, weddings, etc.

Notice to Taxpayers.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I have this day received from the County Auditor of Washoe County, Nevada, the Assessment roll of said county for A. D. 1900. That the first installment of State, County and special taxes as noted therein will be due and payable at the office of the County Treasurer. That all taxes not paid will be delinquent at the close of official business Monday, December 1st, A. D. 1900. After which date ten per cent delinquency will be added to the amount thereof; and to all taxes amounting to over three hundred dollars, exclusive of poll taxes on which suits shall have been commenced, twenty-five percent as an additional penalty will be added.
D. B. BOYD,
County Treasurer.

Wedekind Mine
Proving a Wonder.

A carload of rich ore from the Reno Star mine was shipped to the smelter yesterday. Another carload is sacked at the orehouse. The output of the mine at present is five tons a day. A thousand pounds of the "real stuff," that assays $1.50 a pound, was taken out the other day. This bunch looks as though it had more horn silver than gangue rock in it. With every foot of depth the mine grows richer.

IT IS NEEDLESS TO SAY,
That everybody uses groceries. However, many of them do not know that most of their food is adulterated by scheming manufacturers. Such concern do not get our trade. Our prices are as

ASTOUNDED THE EDITOR.
Editor S. A. Brown, of the Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver.
For indigestion, loss of Appetite,
Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents a
